

This project is my personal portfolio site which is meant to serve as a point of access to people looking to get a snapshot of my character and my academic career. It is meant to serve the purpose of networking easier.

The features I added are:

- An embedded playlist via an `<iframe>` tag for more personality
- An embedded resume in pdf form
- On almost every image I added a scale transformation which was paired with a 1 second ease-in-ease-out transition

My Page features four different pages:

- My home page
- A page describing me
- A resume page showing my resume available for download
- Lastly my projects page showcasing what I've worked on

For my menu bar it is very intuitive with my name representing the home button, and I've used images that everyone associates with common social media platforms to link my accounts for easy communication. I also tried to maintain a good text to image balance by having at least one image on each page.
